ABOUT US

We are proudly located in a Heritage II Listed Building. Built in 1918, the old Fever Hospital opened its doors in January 1919 and is a building rich in history and ghostly tales.

Originally built for scarlet fever patients, it quickly became one of Wellington's main infectious diseases hospitals, taking in patients ill with the Black Friday flu epidemic of 1917/1918 and returning soldiers from World War I with respiratory diseases.

The location was selected for isolation purposes at the time, however, this magnificent hidden old hospital is today nestled amongst lush greenery and the stunning scenery of the town belt on Mount Victoria. It has been home to Wellington SPCA since 2013.

We have four rooms available including The Ward, The William Wilberforce Room, The Koekoe Room and The Sunroom.

Complimentary WIFI, lots of free parking, and spending time with the animals... what could be better?

One of his greatest accomplishments was abolishing the slave trade and becoming the founder of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.
